

TILT

Tilt is an exploration of balance and movement.

The design draws from the intersection of precision and craft: two tilted stainless steel cones, laser-cut to achieve sharp, deliberate proportions, are hand-bent and seamlessly welded into form.

A careful gesture that speaks to the harmony of advanced technology and artisanal precision. The design is anchored in the dialogue between sharp geometry and subtle materiality

The exterior is finished in a monolithic polish, offering a quiet architectural presence while the interior reveals a mirror polish that amplifies and directs the light with an inviting clarity. Transforming illumination into a deliberate and tactile experience.

In a quiet celebration of balance, movement, and interaction lies the central detail of tilt, a single wooden ball—anchoring the shade in place. This unassuming element allows the shade to pivot seamlessly, offering directional light with a simple touch. This detail, though small, is integral: it transforms the object from static to dynamic, creating a moment of interaction that is both intuitive and satisfying.
